

Pentecost Schools Project 2015

Following on from the success of last year's Pentecost Project across six schools in Tallaght, Ecumenical Bible Week with Scripture Union are delighted to introduce the Pentecost Schools Competition 2015 for primary schools throughout Dublin and in parts of Wicklow and Kildare.

This year the competition will have the exciting and unique distinction of utilising digital media, art and scripture, bridging the link between the local parish communities, the schools and the home. This competition is open to ALL primary schools, in the Catholic Archdiocese of Dublin and in the Church of Ireland United Dioceses of Dublin & Glendalough.

The 'Pentecost Schools Competition' 2015 is an interactive comic competition for 4th class students in which each student follows a series of videos and lessons to produce their own comic strip based on the story of Pentecost (Acts Chap 2). It is FREE and designed to be as easy as possible for the teacher and parish. This competition consists of five videos, one introductory video and four videos with O'Brien Press graphic illustrator, Alan Nolan. Every lesson has an accompanying video workshop lesson (lasting approximately 10 minutes) instructing the student in designing their own comic strip.

The Pentecost Schools Competition is a project for the individual student in schools, the local parish and the home. The local parish will work with their school to choose three winners and display the art work during Ecumenical Bible Week. This project is for 4th class students and the teacher in the local school simply clicks the following link www.thepentecostproject.com and registers. They will then be issued with a password which will then enable them to access all the online videos and downloadable templates. You will not need to register but can receive this password to view videos for your interest by contacting Grace Deegan at gracedeegan@scriptureunion.ie.

Prayer Guides

Prayer Guidance has a long and treasured history in all religious traditions - as the 'Anam Chara' in our own Celtic tradition. Prayer Guides are lay men and women, religious sisters, brothers and priests who are trained and qualified in spiritual guidance and experienced at helping people in their prayer life. They will be attending some of the venues during Ecumenical Bible Week.
